Martin Luther King III

As the oldest son of the late Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Coretta Scott King, Martin Luther King III is a thought leader on the world stage, a peace maker and a negotiator on some of today's most critical national and international platforms for social change.

Amplifying the work of his father, King has devoted his life to promoting global human rights and eradicating racism, violence and poverty, earning a reputation as a respected international statesman and one of the world's most passionate advocates for the poor and oppressed.

Most recently, King has taken over leadership of the Drum Major Institute. Founded in 1961 on Dr. King's vision of a world free of racism, poverty and violence, the Drum Major Institute carries Dr. King's work and vision of radical nonviolence into the 21st century, democratizing it for all people.

Continuing his father's vision is the backbone of his life's work. After graduating in 1979 from his father's alma mater, Morehouse College, with a B.A. in political science, King continued his public service by supporting various social change movements through his speaking and writing. A humble but persistent worker both publicly and behind the scenes, King patiently negotiated a compromise between Georgia legislators and leaders to change the state flag that was an offensive and divisive symbol for many Georgians.

Throughout the 1990s, King continued the fight for justice by addressing the moral and political dilemmas of Haiti, Nigeria, Australia and Sierra Leone. He has spoken to the United Nations on behalf of those living with the challenges of AIDS.

In 1998, King began his service as the elected president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference – an organization co-founded by his father – focusing on the police brutality and racial profiling hearings in several states and leading to the passage of several resolutions that make racial profiling illegal.

In 2006, he founded Realizing the Dream, Inc., which eventually merged with The King Center in 2010, and took his father's message to a global audience by spearheading nonviolence training in Bosnia Herzegovina, India, Israel, Palestine, Kenya, Sri Lanka and the United States.

In August 2008, King spoke on behalf of the Democratic Party presidential nominee, Senator Barack Obama, at the Democratic National Convention. The timing was both historical and inspirational, marking the 45th anniversary of his father's "I Have a Dream" speech.

King is the recipient of numerous awards and several honorary degrees, including one of India's most prestigious honors for outstanding contributions to the promotion of human rights. He is the husband of Arndrea Waters King and father of a young daughter, Yolanda Renee King, the only grandchild of the Rev.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The entire family is dedicated to sharing the impactful Kingian message to inspire a collective of new collaborators and world-changers.

For being a true “man for others” in the Jesuit tradition through his commitment to civil rights and social justice as well as serving as an advocate for the poor and oppressed, Saint Peter’s University is proud and privileged to confer upon Martin Luther King III the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

During Dr. King's visit in 1965, he addressed a crowd of approximately 500 people and was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws and Letters degree, the first offered by a Catholic college or university. According to an account in Saint Peter's student newspaper, Dr. King spoke against segregation and violence, and despite setbacks in the civil rights movement, King expressed optimism. “Although some will be scared, lose jobs and be called bad names, our problems will be solved,” King said. “We shall overcome.” When Coretta Scott King came to campus in 1975, she spoke to Saint Peter's students about how full employment would help ease the country out of its economic inequalities.

inspires a generation.

Alma Mater

Words by Richard I. Nevin

Music by Frederick Joslyn

Hail Alma Mater deathless Saint Peter's
Our loving hearts acclaim thy resurrected name
Nor war nor time has pow'r to bind Thee; Thine is a spirit proud and free. And as year on years come swinging, we will still be singing Praises to Thy name.

Hail Alma Mater, hallowed Saint Peter's
With each new day we know how much we owe to Thee.
Truth is our guide, we shall not wander; God is our strength, we shall not fail.
And our love will ever bind us so that death will find us
Thine eternally.

Saint Peter's
